

PRODUCT SECURITY ADVISORY

December 21st, 2021

PSIRT Record Number
TEK-PSA-002-1221

OVERVIEW

CVE-2021-44228 was published December 10th, 2021, in regards to an Apache Log4j2 2.0-beta9 through 2.15.0 vulnerability allowing an attacker to control log messages or log message parameters to execute arbitrary code loaded from LDAP servers when message lookup substitution is enabled.

PSIRT STATEMENT

The Log4J security vulnerability (CVE-2021-44228) that has received a considerable amount of recent press coverage.

We want to assure you that we are aware of the issue and have taken immediate and robust steps to fully understand any implications for our systems and the systems upon which our products and services rely.

Our assessment has not identified the vulnerability in any Tektronix products, and we do not have any reason to believe that it has been used to compromise any Tektronix products.

At this juncture, we believe that we have taken the necessary and recommended steps to safeguard our systems in light of this threat.

ABOUT TEKTRONIX PRODUCT SECURITY

The Product Security Incident Response Team (PSIRT) focuses on identifying, assessing, and analyzing risks associated with security vulnerabilities within Tektronix products. The Tektronix PSIRT is a diverse team of subject matter experts responsible for delivering best in class support to contain and minimize the vulnerability impact.

For more information about Tektronix Product Security and PSIRT, please visit us at <https://tek.com/en/support/product-security/advisories>

You may also contact us at PSIRT@tektronix.com.

Initial Publication Date	Last Published Date
12/21/2021	10/4/2023